

LIFESTYLE TRENDS AND FABULOUS JOURNEYS FOR TODAY'S WOMAN

savvy, sexy & sophisticated travelgirl
magazine

SCOOP

HOME

CONTESTS

PRESS

PHOTO GALLERY

ADVERTISE

TRAVEL TIPS

CONTACT US

■ current issue

■ who is travelgirl?

■ online alerts

■ subscribe

■ what's a tg to do in... get the scoop!

Weekly travelgirl Scoop

Come visit us every week and check out our travelgirl scoop. We'll have the latest news on what's going on, what's coming up, the latest travel deals and where you should be going next! Have some scoop of your own you'd like to share? Email it to jan@travelgirlinc.com

To submit a lifestyle or travel-related product for review, send a non-returnable product sample along with press kit (or any media information available) to:

The Scoop
3508 Broad Street
Chamblee, GA 30341

The Scoop for May 4, 2007, compiled by Jan Butsch Schroder

Stuff we love ...

I confess – the initial pashmina craze totally passed me by. When they first cropped up in the 90's at just about every social event from PTA meetings to black-tie affairs, they were too pricy for me, at $200 to $300. That, plus I was always concerned about dragging the fringe through the cocktail sauce on the buffet. But now that you can get 100 percent cashmere ones for starting at a mere $49, I decided to test drive one at a wedding last weekend. I loved it! I could wear my black halter-style dress to the wedding and the pashmina covered my back and shoulders while adding some much-needed color to my ensemble. Back at the reception, it helped keep me warm in the blasting air-conditioning.

The new "ring" styles are very thin, so called because they can pass through a wedding ring, which always makes them a breeze to pack. The Pashmina Store carries these and heavier weight ones. www.thepashminastore.com

Do you have a scoop? Please email Jan at jan@travelgirlinc.com tg

home • current issue • who is travelgirl? • online alerts • subscribe
what's a travelgirl to do in... • contest • advertise • photo gallery • contact us • site map • editorial calendar

© 2004 travelgirl inc.

Web Site and Hosting by: Maestro IT Services